

evergreen trees in the back yard, and the nasty things made her sick. Piper chased the kitchen mop and bit the noisy vacuum sweeper when Mrs. Duncan cleaned the house. She scattered her doggie toys all over the place, and insisted upon going for a walk every day after her dinner, even when it was raining or snowing.

Sometimes, Piper got herself accidentally shut in closets and cupboards because the Duncans never expected her to crawl into such places. She “buried” her milk bones under the divan pillows and behind the

