

with this arrangement. I don't have to fuss at him all summer for trampling my flowers, and he appreciates having his own path to follow, going, of course, the way he plotted out!"

Scottie-Robbie was soon a happy dog again. He felt that his new family understood his Scottieness very well, and he was especially glad to have another "Dad," probably because he remembered Mr. Stewart.